

Practicing Gratitude

Gratitude is more than just a positive feeling; it's a practical tool that can help manage anxiety and improve your mental well-being. When you practice gratitude regularly, it can shift your focus away from anxious thoughts and help you notice the good things in your life, building resilience against stress. This worksheet is designed to help you recognize and appreciate the positive aspects of your daily experiences.

PART 1: Daily Gratitude List

Write down three things you are grateful for each day. (Example page).

WEEK 1	Gratitude 1	Gratitude 2	Gratitude 3
M	Example: The taste of fresh coffee in the morning.	The kind text my friend sent me.	The relaxing bath I took to unwind.
T	A productive work meeting where I felt heard.	My cozy blanket keeping me warm while I read.	A surprise call from my mom to check on me.

PART 2: Weekly Reflection

Reflect on your gratitude entries at the end of each week. Answer the following questions:

Which gratitude entries for this week stood out to you the most and why?

The gratitude entry that stood out the most this week was "taking a quiet walk in the park." It felt so refreshing to be surrounded by nature and to have a moment of calm away from my usual busy routine. I realized how much these small breaks can help me feel grounded. Another entry that stood out was "a kind message from a friend." It reminded me that I have a support system and people who genuinely care about me. Sometimes I get caught up in my own struggles, so being reminded of these connections really lifted my mood and made me feel valued.
