

Cognitive Restructuring

Cognitive restructuring is a CBT technique that involves recognizing negative and unhelpful thoughts, examining the evidence for and against these thoughts, and developing more helpful alternative thoughts. Cognitive restructuring can help interrupt and change negative thought patterns that contribute many feelings like sadness, worry, frustration, or distress.

Cognitive Restructuring

THOUGHT

What you think in a situation
Ex: Everyone's judging me.

EMOTION

How you feel
Ex: Frustrated, embarrassed

BEHAVIOR

How you handle the situation
Ex: Avoidance, distraction

It's important to understand that our automatic thoughts affect our feelings and influence our behavior.

You can recognize unhealthy thought patterns that are making your unpleasant feelings worse by practicing cognitive restructuring. Use the questions below each time you're experiencing unwanted thoughts that lead to unhealthy behaviors.

Thought:

Is my thought factual?

What evidence do I have to support my thought?

What would someone else say about the situation?

Is it possible to view this situation differently?
